IN THE WORM HOLE

Sept 25 Greg (KK6WLD) setup at the Torrey Pines glider port and propagation was pretty good to the stations in LA. A storm was coming up from the south spewing out some high voltage lighting effects, so he had to tear down early and high tail it out of there. Later, we learned that he didn't quite get out there soon enough. Not from lightning strikes, but the police or park patrol citing everyone for being there after park closing hours.

Ben (TGM), and Lars (CBE) were bicycle mobile at a spot in Elysian Park overlooking Dodger Stadium. They have a great spot offering them a nice outdoor atmosphere, good elevation for excellent signal reports, PLUS entertainment from all the other partying people roaming about the park. Scott (CJK) did have some extra entertainment at one time while he was parked up on Mullholand Drive. He got to watch (and hear) a music video being recorded. Unfortunately, he was at home in his base in Burbank, so his signal sucked. Sorry, haha. Justin (the J A and the C) was in there with usual good signal, but must have fallen asleep or something as we didn't hear him later on.

Richard (KK6MRH) from West LA visited us tonight and spit out 100 watts through a roof mount antenna. He had a great signal to everyone.

Rick (IET) added another 10 feet to his vertical antenna. He ended up doing it himself, and if you can picture him standing on the roof edge of his condo, balancing a 10 ft mast with antenna mounted to it, and trying to place that mast into the existing one. Boy, what a slight gust of wind in the wrong direction would have done...

Oct 2, 2019 Big group tonight and decent signals from everyone. Except Manny(MDZ). Well Manny, we know you are going to setup a roof antenna and base radio, so you got a little more incentive to do it now. Finally gracing us tonight was Scott (TGU). I have no idea how Rick thinks we sound the same and have the same accent. Must be those salted chocolate truffles you are eating. Didn't your teacher ever tell you that you better have enough for everyone! Ben and Lars were at their usual high spot in Elysian Park and Scott (CKJ) was hanging out under the Hollywood Sign. Great signal from all of them. Greg (WLD) parked on the street near by the glider port. Propagation was pretty screwy tonight, but Ted (TED) and Greg both got good signals up here. Greg also was playing with a new radio and outputting 40 watts. With his cubicle quad antenna, that might be over 400Watts ERP. A new guest, Steve AA6IO in Cerritos happened to hear us out there and checked in.

Next week, a bomb shell (not blond) story from N6IET.

WORM HOLE T-SHIRTS

Just a few more sizes needed, but I think Justin has most of them.
